6 Armies Lash Road to Berlin

By WILLIAM FRYE

LONDON, Oct. 23 (AP) — Six Allied armies pounded the tightly-drawn Nazi defense band from Holland to Switzerland's border today with an unceasing pressure aimed at opening the eventual cracks that will permit a smash to Berlin.

The rain of blows was not yet a grand co-ordinated offensive.

The assault was on against the shrinking south Scheldt pocket west of Antwerp, the Breda box north of Antwerp, the hard-held doorway from Aachen, the upper entrance of the Saar valley, and the sharp-cloven Vosges passes.

The British second army drove to within three to five miles of the communications hub of Hertogenbosch.

The Canadian Army swept on from esschen on the Dutch-Belgian border, 16 miles north of Antwerp, after an 11-mile advance in two days, and hammered methodically toward Roosendaal, four miles ahead.

West of Antwerp the Canadians captured Breskens and Fort Frederik-Hendrik on the south, then took Schoondijke, pinching the Germans into a canal-sliced area of five by eight miles.

Only one battery—there were three two days ago—remained in action in the Vlissingen (Flushing) area on the north side of the estuary.

Lt. Gen. Hodges' U. S. First Army pushed a mile east toward Buren after its capture of Aachen, and was clearing the enemy from the area around the village of Wurselen, three miles northeast of Aachen.

A Berlin broadcast said the First Army seemed to have completed its regrouping, brought up "vast" tank reinforcements and could be expected to attack at any moment somewhere along a 16-mile front between Geilenkirchen and Stolberg.

The front from Aachen to the Vosges was a rain-soaked mire.

Lt. Gen. Patton's Third Army poked an attack at the Germans toward the upper Saar valley, capturing Bezange La Petite, 19 miles east of Nancy, and fighting in Moncourt, 19 miles from the Saar.

The American Seventh Army also wedged deeper into the approaches to the Vosges passes northeast of Epinal past captured Brouvelieures and Bruyeres.

Three more villages Domfaing, Vervezelle and Belmont were entered, and two more miles were sliced off the distance to Bonhomme passs, now 15 miles away.

PLANTS FLAG—T-Sgt. Michael J. Ryan of Brooklyn, N. Y., had the honor of being the first American soldier to plant the U. S. flag on the Philippines during the invasion of Leyte. He had been cited previously by Gen. MacArthur for heroic work.

Cervia Captured In Adriatic Push

ROME, Oct. 23 (AP)—Eighth Army troops, inching their way up the Adriatic coast, have occupied Cervia, on the coastal road four miles north of captured Cesenatico and only 12 miles below Ravenna, but bad weather again hampered operations on the Fifth Army front, Allied headquarters announced today.

Cervia is 19 miles along the main highway from Rimini to northeastern Italy.

The communique said the Allied bridgehead over the Savio river has been enlarged.

Evvoia, Greek Island Captured

ROME, Oct. 23 (AP) — The large Aegean island of Evvoia (Euboea), adjacent to the Greek mainland north of Athens, has been cleared completely of Germans, the Allied headquarters announced today.

The island is a mountainous stretch of 115 miles and 33 miles at its greatest breadth.

The strategic north Aegean island of Lemnos has been occupied by the British and all of the Cyclades group was reported freed today.

Stoneham Man Leads Pacific Isle Attack

Led by Capt. Jack T. Murphy of Stoneham, an American infantry company brought about the capture of a Southwest Pacific island by knocking out a Jap command post, according to an Associated Press dispatch today from the American Division.

Key to the entire Jap defense system on the island, the command post was on a hill. Shooting continuously, the Americans moved steadily forward and in 30 minutes the assault was over. One Japanese was taken prisoner. Thirty others were dead.

MacArthur Builds Huge Base, Beats Japs Back

By Associated Press

Behind steadily advancing American combat troops, Leyte island in the central Philippines is being transformed today into a base for Gen. MacArthur's compaign to avenge Bataan, and the site of the first constitutional government in the archipelago in more than two and a half years.

Tanks rolled down the roads into Leyte valley from the captured coastal towns of Dulag and Palo, spearheading infantry advances against the outnumbered Japs who retreated to the west. The advancing line lagged behind in the 11 miles between these two securely held extremities of the Philippine front.

At Dulag and the temporary Philippines capital of Tacloban, engineers were converting two captured airfields into advanced bases for U. S. land-based bombers and fighters.

Carrier planes and aircraft based outside the Philippines were steadily hammering enemy air bases and transport centers throughout the islands. In ten days of pre-invasion and invasion-supporting blows they have destroyed more than 1500 Jap planes equivalent to a month's production for Japanese factories.

Pres. Sergio Osmena and his Filipino cabinet re-established the free Philippine government at Tacloban where Gen. MacArthur announced he was bringing back to the islands the "sacred right of self-rule."

It was, he said, "a prelude to the liberation of the entire territory of the Philippines." MacArthur declared "null and void" all laws and proclynations of the Jap-controlled government of President Jose P. Laurel.

After several small, fierce Japanese counterattacks and stubborn resistance in the center of the line where warships moved in close to the shore to knock out enemy strong points, MacArthur said his "ground forces are steadily extending their positions on all fronts," while back of the lines "a great base for all arms for future operations" was being developed.

The 96th Inf. Div., in its first combat, beat off two enemy tank and infantry attacks as it advanced inland from Dulag. In the north the Jap veterans of Bataan fled from both the town and the airdrome of Tacloban, offering no organized resistance to the First Cavalry Div.

The enemy has been virtually cut off from sea reinforcements and their remaining air force was limited to dusk and dawn sorties against the great American fleet of more than 600 ships in Leyte Gulf.

As U. S. forces rolled ahead, Seizo Kobayashi, president of Japan's Imperial Rule Assistance Political Society, moaned over Tokyo radio: "The enemy, with great military strength and numerical superiority, is attempting to wipe us out."

Reds Now 18 Mi. Inside Germany

LONDON, Oct. 23 (AP)—Russian troops have captured the East Prussian highway center of Coldap, 18 miles inside Germany, and have broadened their offensive along the entire eastern boundary of the province, the German communique said today.

"Deep penetrations" in Nazi lines between Goldap and Suwalki were acknowledged.

The Germans said the front now was 150 airline miles long from besieged Memel, northernmost German-claimed city, and Augustow in the Suwalki sector at the southeast corner of East Prussia.

At the extreme tip of the eastern front, the Russians on the Arctic Sea pulled up to the border of Norway on a wide front within striking distance of the Norwegian iron export harbor of Kirkenes, a German submarine and air base, a constant threat to the Murmansk and Archangel convoy routes to Russia.

Far to the south, where the Russians were less than 130 miles from Austria and 180 from Vienna, Moscow announced victories both in Hungary and Yugoslavia. Sombor in Yugoslavia, a place of 32,000 and a communications center 95 miles northwest of liberated Belgrade, was toppled.

So was Nyiregyhaza, Hungarian city of 36,000, close to the Czechoslovak border. At captured Baja on the Danube, the Russians were nearest to Austria and Vienna.

In reaching the frozen Norwegian border, the Russians overran the rich Finnish nickel mines which has been nurturing the German war machine.

EAST PRUSSIA—Red army forces pushing deeper into East Prussia today reported the capture of the important highway center of Goldap . . . and penetrated deep into Nazi lines between Goldap and Suwalkie.

GEORGE CARD, WIFE IN HOSPITAL
Sees Bride After Operation

Surgery Saves Sailor's Sight

By ALICE BISSELL

A sailor was blinded today by beauty.

"I cannot see. It's like staring into the sun. Your eyes are blue. Your hair is rusty brown. Your face is bright. You have on a blue dress. Your teeth shine."

In a hushed room at Chelsea Naval Hospital today a man uttered these words when he knew the vision of his wife was a reality.

Stoker George Card, 26, of the British Navy, faced the beauty of the world today instead of a lifetime of blindness.

He had to turn away and think in darkness for 15 minutes before he could speak again.

His eyesight saved by an operation by a Chelsea Naval Hospital doctor, the bandages were removed today. In their place were put blinders that allowed him to look directly in front of him.

"One month ago the doctor told me I'd have a 50-50 chance with this operation. If I saw today when the bandages were removed, I knew I'd see forever. If I didn't see, I knew I'd be blind," said Card.

Last June his left eye began to fail because of the retina, believed to have been detached during the severe action he has suffered through since 1940. The strain on the right eye was so great that without the other retina attached, he would have gone totally blind.

"Most of all in this month of darkness, I thought about my wife. I tried to memorize her, in case I went blind," Card said.

"I lay here thinking of one year ago. She was 23 then, and Mildred Brooks. During three overseas journeys I never forgot her, and finally we were married last year at Woodlawn Baptist Church in Pawtucket.

"I tried to store up memories of mother and Dad at our little house in Laindon, Essex, and memories of the countryside.

"Now I love the looks of everything! Everything hurts my eyes because everything seems so wonderful if you've been blind. I only hope the other fellows here with my trouble will have my luck."

LINDA TURNS 21—Filmstress Linda Darnell has reached her 21st birthday, but says she has been figuratively 21 for so long that the birthday doesn't make things much different. She's been playing adult roles since she was 15.

Fire Peril Charged In Boston Schools

Challenging "official complacency" of Boston toward the safety of its school children, the second of a series of reports on a city school survey authorized by the Boston Finance Commission today criticised fire inspection and safety exists, and recommended immediate fire prevention measures.

The report likewise asserted that too much was being spent for maintenance of school buildings and declared that $390,000 yearly could be saved by economies which would not impair efficiency.

Closing of 35 of the 198 elementary school buildings in the city, particularly in Charlestown, where only one of 11 schoolhouses was listed as a first class building, was recommended. The report stated that in general Boston schoolhouses were "not good buildings."

Asserting that the building program, which should be planned as a postwar activity, was an integral part of the educational picture, the report recommended dissolution of that board of commissioners of school buildings and transfer of its powers to the school committee.

Discussing food service in the city's schools, the report recommended centralization of authority in the Director of School Lunches with extension of the nutrition program, installation of adequate equipment and uniform accounting controls.

URGE CENTRAL CONTROL

Centralized control and management likewise was favored as a means of ending the present divided responsibility whereby the school business organization is split into four independent divisions.

The present method of preparing and handling the school budget also drew sharp criticism in the report, which proposed standard procedure in budget preparation; accounting simplification and better auditing.

Discussing fire hazards, the report states the school buildings department had listed 108 of the 289 school buildings and annexes in use as of first-class construction. Of the remainder, 140 were classified as second class, while 21 were listed as third class.

"Even in those classified as first class," the report states, "proper attention has not always been given to adequate exit conditions.

"All the buildings listed as second class have extremely large vertical openings as stairways, and light wells through which a fire could spread unhindered, and monumental open wooden stairways abound. These are usually provided with oil-soaked wooden treads and highly combustible wooden sheathing, wainscotting and balustrades.

LACK FIRE CONTROLS

"Many assembly halls are four stories above ground level with egress by narrow, open wooden stairways, poorly lighted and seldom providing continuous passage to outdoor safety.

"Exit conditions from the first floor are usually very bad. Vestibules constrict egress and provide situations where jamming of pupils could occur.

"Buildings classified as third-class are wooden frame buildings

Somerville Girl Killed In New York Hotel Fire

Irene Schrage, 22, of Hudson st., Somerville, died today in a fire that swept the top floor of the six-story St. George Hotel, New York. The fire killed a man in another room and caused injuries to four other guests in a rush of 80 occupants to escape.

MISS IRENE SCHRAGE
Meets Death in New York Fire

The other fatality was Edward Millen, 28, of Middletown, N. Y.

Miss Schrage had made a desperate attempt to escape. Her body was found at the bottom of an air shaft. She was identified by papers in her handbag, nearby.

A third guest, a sailor, Lester Gallagher, 28, was taken to the Marine Hospital, Station Island, in a critical condition.

The night clerk at the hotel learned about the fire when Millen telephoned him flames were sweeping the floor. "I'm having trouble getting out of my room," Millen gasped.

When firemen finally quelled the blaze they found Millen clutching the telephone in death.

Miss Schrage was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Schrage. Her mother said today:

"I tried to stop her from going to New York this time, but she had made arrangements with a Cambridge girl with whom she worked and she didn't want to disappoint her."

Miss Schrage was a 1940 graduate of Somerville High. While at school she received publicity when she reported to Dedham police that she had been kidnaped by two men and detained for several hours before being thrown on a Dedham lawn. Later she admitted she was late for school and went to the movies and then invented the story.

Sen. Bridges In Hub Hospital

Senator Bridges of New Hampshire has been under tratment at the Phillips House of the Massachusetts General Hospital since Friday, it was learned today.

Admitting he entered the hospital four days ago, attaches declined to disclose the nature of the ailment. A bulletin, they said, will probably be given out later.

A widower and father of three sons, the oldest in the Navy, Sen. Bridges, a Republican, was married last Feb. 11 at St. Paul, Minn., to the former Dolcris Theeuwald, an employe of the State Department in Washington. The Senator is 45 and his bride 26.

CAMP CROWDER, Mo., Oct. 23 (AP)—T-Sgt. Floyd C. Dusen received a communication from his draft board the other day:

"We have been advised that you have been discharged from the armed forces. In order to complete our records, it will be necessary for you to submit a copy of your discharge.

The sergeant thought over his two years of active duty with the Army and replied: "How about you mailing me a copy of the discharge you mention?"

Dewey On Way To Farm Belt

By JACK BELL

EN ROUTE WITH DEWEY TO MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 23 (AP)—Gov. Dewey set out for the Midwest farm belt today with a declaration that full production and employment in business and industry constitute "the first fundamental necessity for a prosperous agriculture."

The Republican presidential nominee left Albany at 9 a. m. on his special train for Minneapolis, where he will speak tomorrow night. It is his third visit of the campaign to the Midwest. He plans to speak in Chicago Wednesday night before returning to the East.

In Minnesota Dewey will enter a state in which he generally has been given the political edge. However, the possible defection of Senator Joseph R. Ball (R.) of Minnesota has cast some doubt on the outcome of the presidential race there.

Dewey, who is expected to make a major farm speech on this trip, said today that "only if all elements in our country pull together can we attain the twin goals of prosperous farming and a good diet for all our people.

"A good diet for everyone would necessitate a large increase in the production of the protective foods — dairy products, meats, eggs, fruits and vegetables. A substantial increase in the per capita consumption of these foods would both improve our health and make fuller use of our farm plant.

"In working toward the twin goals of a prosperous agriculture and a good diet for all, many problems must be faced. Farm incomes must be such as to enable efficient farm operators to pay operating expenses, maintain their farms and provide a good living for themselves and their families.

BALL BOLTS DEWEY ON PEACE ISSUE

By LEON PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 (INS)—Sen. Joseph H. Ball (R.) of Minnesota today announced he would support President Roosevelt because he believes his re-election offers the greatest hope for permanent peace.

Decision of Sen. Ball to bolt his party, he said, followed a study of the speeches and statements of both Mr. Roosevelt and Gov. Dewey on international questions.

In a formal statement, Ball said President Roosevelt in his foreign policy speech Saturday squarely met the issues in the fight for international security.

Gov. Dewey, Ball said, failed to meet squarely the issue of granting power to use military force against other nations without requiring individual approval of each member nation.

"Domestic issues cannot be separated from international issues," said Ball. "This war is convincing proof that in the shrinking world of today what America does at home has terrific repercussions abroad, and that the solution reached for international problems will shape and limit our choices at home."

Ball said the American government could survive domestic blunders, but added that "neither our enterprise nor our Democratic institution will survive a third world war.

"The Roosevelt administration, with some mistakes and timidity, has by its action reversed the isolationist foreign policy the United States followed for two decades. It has established American leadership of the United Nations in fighting this war and developing a world security organization to maintain peace in the future."

Vote Up 2 Million In 13 Cities

NEW YORK, Oct. 23 (AP)—Thirteen cities of more than 500,000 population each, which cast more than one-fifth of the total popular vote in the 1940 presidential election, have completed a record-breaking registration totaling slightly more than 12,000,000 including service men and women who have applied for ballots.

The cities included New York, Chicago, Boston, St. Louis, Philadelphia, Detroit, Los Angeles, Cleveland, Baltimore, Pittsburgh, San Francisco, Milwaukee and Buffalo.

Their combined vote was approximately 10,000,000 in 1940.

Bricker Raps Lack Of Spending Control

By E. E. EASTERLY

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Oct. 23 (AP)—Gov. Bricker, urging greater control over the use of taxpayers' money, asserted today that government corporations had spent huge sums never appropriated by Congress.

This, said the Republican candidate for Vice-President, is in conformity with practices by which "the New Deal has constantly sought to rob Congress of its control over government spending."

The Ohio Governor, who devoted today to campaigning in Wyoming and Colorado, added in a prepared speech released by his campaign staff:

"There is a vital need in Washington for greater control over the spending of taxpayers' money. This will not be done by an Administration drunk with power and bent upon making another Reichstag and rubber stamp out of our Congress."

Describing the people's money as "trust money" which "should be wisely and carefully accounted for," Bricker declared:

"The Republican party pledges itself to closely guard the nation's pocketbook and to preserve our financial integrity."

He recalled the enactment in 1921 of a budgetary reform bill, setting up a general accounting office with authority to pre-audit federal government expenditures, and said there was little change in budgetary practices until advent of the New Deal in 1933.

"Since that date," Bricker continued, "Congress has frequently surrendered its power over appropriations through huge lump sum appropriations for so-called emergency purposes. It gave the President a blank check to use as he pleased.

"Likewise, Congress surrendered control of the pocketbook to many corporations and agencies."

Weymouth Flier's Crews Bag 8 Zeros

Two Navy Liberator gun crews, directed by Ens. R. C. Olive of North Weymouth, not only brought their bombers safely back to base but shot down five of eight Jap Zeros that attacked them, according to an Associated Press dispatch from the Marianas today.

The dispatch said the two bombers were on a special mission when, off Iwo Jima, the Zeros, using phosphorus bombs as well as fire power, jumped them. The protective fire screen put up by Olive and his men prevented the Zeros from getting through to the bombers, only one of which suffered a bullet hole through one wing.

F. D. Resumes Tour Friday

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 (AP)—President Roosevelt, as candidate Roosevelt, will hit the vote-strewn campaign trails of the East again this week with what has been advertised as a speech on business Friday night in Philadelphia's Shibe Park.

He also may speak in Chicago Saturday night, but this awaits official announcement. Another address is set for Boston, probably Nov. 4. Cleveland, last stop on his 1940 schedule, may see him before election day.

Election experts generally say they see a close race in the Nov. 7 voting, with most looking on New York and Pennsylvania to decide the issue with their big bloc of 82 electoral votes.

Still others foresee such a close finish the people may have to wait for late counting of soldier votes for a decision.

Suarez Quisling Trial On in Paris

PARIS, Oct. 23 (AP)—The veteran Paris journalist, George Suarez, went on trial this afternoon on a charge of collaborating with the Germans. As director of the Nazi-sponsored Aujourd'hui, he was alleged to have received $15,000 a month during Nazi occupation.

Only a moderate crowd sat in the gloomy halls of the old Palais de Justice for the first of the trials, in which the government intends in six months to deal with 100,000 accused of conniving with the Germans.

Suarez was calm.

His fate—which may be the firing squad if he is convicted—will furnish some precedent for the fate of hundreds of other prominent prewar writers accused of working for Nazi-dominated periodicals, now suppressed.

In four days last week 2000 new charges were filed in the Paris area alone—where it is estimated 10,000 persons are under arrest.

Demands Pearl Harbor Reports Be Aired

DETROIT, Oct. 23 (AP)—Sen. Ferguson (R.) of Michigan said today he would demand appointment of a Senate committee with powers to subpoena witnesses and promptly make public reports of Army and Navy inquries into Japan's sneak attack on Pearl Harbor.

He declared the Administration "has fought from the beginning against giving out any facts" concerning the incident.

Tobin-Cahill Battle Fiery in Stretch

By FRANK REILLY

Lt. Gov. Horace T. Cahill as chairman of the institutional committee of the Governor's Council failed in his duty to the mentally ill and feeble-minded wards of the Commonwealth now housed in state homes and hospitals and as a result those places are now overcrowded and unsanitary, Mayor Tobin charged today.

With this blast at his opponent, Tobin entered the final stretch of the battle for election as Governor.

Cahill charged today that the mayor has only a limited knowledge of state government and declared that the best interests of the people of the Commonwealth would be served by election of the entire Republican state ticket. He also urged the electorate to cast their ballots for Governor Dewey.

In his attack on the Lieutenant Governor, Tobin said, "My opponent had the specific responsibility during the past six years, as chairman of the institutional committee of the Governor's Council, to take care of the 40,000 unfortunates in our mental institutions.

"If he had one responsibility to which he should be able to point with pride, this was it. Yet a survey by the Republican-controlled ways and means committee of the Massachusetts Legislature reveals that Monson State Hospital with a capacity of 1144 patients is caring for 1500. In addition there is a waiting list of 500. That situation was the direct responsibility of my opponent.

"Similar overcrowding was found by Republican investigators at the Belchertown school for feeble minded children. There a building with a capacity of 125 was found to be housing 222 children. Five hundred unfortunate children are on a waiting list for admission to that institution.

Cahill in his attack upon Mayor Tobin charged that the Democratic party has failed to give Massachusetts the sound, equitable and efficient government which has characterized Republican administrations.

This evening the Republican nominee will speak at Hotel Kendall, Framingham, and Hotel Bradford, Boston.

Mayor Tobin speaks this evening at rallies in Greenfield, Athol, Winchendon and Montague. During the day he was to tour small communities of Franklin County and speak briefly at daylight meetings in Wendell, Whately, Irving, Deerfield, Sunderland and Orange.

The heated campaign for Attorney General reached the boiling point today when supporters of Councilor Clarence A. Barnes, Republican, announced they had purchased radio time for tonight immediately following a scheduled address by the Democratic candidate, former Lt. Gov. Francis E. Kelly.

Kelly is to speak at 7:30 p. m. over WNAC and the Yankee Network. He will be followed over the same stations by three speakers in behalf of Barnes' candidacy, Thomas H. Mahony, Willard P. Lombard and Wendell P. Murray.

Students Join Race For History Awards

Public and parochial high school students of Boston joined thousands elsewhere in the country today in preparing to take part in the annual William Randolph Hearst National American History Awards.

War bonds totaling $5850 will be distributed in national prizes. In addition, $1000 in war bonds will be awarded here by the Record-American-Sunday Advertiser as local prizes, while the school by the Boston public and parochial schools came respectively from Supt. Arthur L. Gould and Rev. William J. Daly, diocesan supervisor of schools.

Mayor Tobin Gov. Saltonstall Supt. Gould Rev. W. J. Daly

Superintendent Gould said: "Now, as never before, it is essential that the boys and girls know the history of our great country."

The date for final examinations in Boston has been set tentatively as Dec. 15. Boston competitors who become eligible for the nationwide test will take examinations in Faneuil Hall that date.

The national judges comprise a board of eminent educators from a pool contributed by all of the 13 participating cities.

Three winners in Boston will enter the national finals, together with three winners each from 12 other cities.

dolph Hearst in this great contest. These awards are but another reminder of the many great stimulants to patriotism which have been sponsored by the Hearst newspapers."

Assurance of full co-operation producing the winning Boston student will receive a $100 set of American history books.

The competition will be held simultaneously in 12 other cities—New York, Chicago, Detroit, Los Angeles, Pittsburgh, San Francisco, Seattle, Albany, Baltimore, Milwaukee, San Antonio and Oakland.

Student participants will be asked to answer questions on American history and write an essay on a subject to be announced later.

The national first prize will be $2000 in war bonds, followed by a second prize of $1000; third, $500; fourth, $250; fifth to ninth, $100 each; 10th to 45th, $50 each, for a total of $5850.

In Boston the first local prize will be $200; second, $100; third, $75; fourth, fifth and sixth, $50; seventh to 25th, $25 each—all in war bonds.

Gov. Saltonstall today hailed the William Randolph Hearst National American History Award as a contribution to the children of the United States. He said also:

"I believe it is fine journalistic practise to inspire high school boys and girls with a heightened interest in their country's history. They, some day, will order the destiny of the United States, and the better understanding they have of the past, the greater their stewardship is apt to be."

Mayor Tobin said: "It was a patriotic impulse of the highest order that prompted William Ran-

Now Italy Laughs

LONDON, Oct. 23 (INS)—Once banned by the Fascist government, Charlie Chaplin's film "The Great Dictator," today continued to draw laughs from Italian moviegoers.

Hurling comedy and sarcasm at Hitler and Mussolini, "The Great Dictator" was shown to Italians for the first time under auspices of the Red Cross, the Italian Red Cross being given the proceeds.

Sargent Girls Vote Strike For Name, but Halt Plan

Students of Sargent College voted today to go on strike in protest against Boston University plans to change the name of their school, but were persuaded to abandon the idea by Chtairman Joseph A. Conway of the State Ballot Law Commission, whom they have retained as counsel.

"I told them such a proceeding would create a dangerous condition," Conway said as he prepared to confer with President Daniel L. Marsh and Boston nUiversity trustees. "They have returned to their classes under a temporary truce pending my negotiations."

The unanimous strike vote was taken at a meeting of the entire student body in Dudley Allen House, a junior dormitory of the school.

Aside from their sentimental reasons for opposing the changing of the school's name, students point out the name of Sargent was famous in physical education and its graduates were welcomed and given preference over graduates from similar schools when they sought employment.

Present at the meeting was Mrs. Y. Parran Dawkins, president of the Sargent Alumnae Ass'n, who told the girls of her conferences last week with President Marsh in which she claimed he had agreed the trustees would not change the name. She quoted from his executive order:

"I authorize you to inform the students and adumnae," it read, "that they may continue to call the institution Sargent College if they should desire."

"You can imagine my surprise and indignation," Mrs. Dawkins said, "when I received word of the statement President Marsh gave to the press saying the Board of Trustees had no intention of changing its ruling. It is apparent that co-operative measures are a failure and other action must be taken."

Notified of the student vote to strike, Conway hurried to the meeting and arrived in time to persuade the girls to abandon the idea for the time being. Himself a graduate of B. U. School of Law, Conway has a daughter, Ann, who is a member of the senior class at Sargent.

He promised to point out to B. U. authorities that the dropping of the name Sargent would result in a loss of good will.

The trustees had announced last week a decision to change the school's name to the Boston University School of Physical Education.

FIRE VICTIMS—Mrs. Joseph Briguglio and her daughter, Donna Lee, 6 months, and son, John Paul, 3, left, and Joseph, 2, were treated at Norwood Hospital today for smoke inhalation. They were among 15 who fled when fire razed a one-story store and apartment block in Fulton st., Norwood. INP by Carleton Patriquin

Norwood Fire Sets Off Explosion, Drives Out 15, Puts 4 in Hospital

In a spectacular fire marked by a series of oil stove explosions, 15 persons were routed from their homes and four of them hospitalized early today when flames of undetermined origin swept a one-story business and apartment block at Fulton and Nahatan sts., Norwood. Damage was estimated at $10,000.

Six of those forced to flee in scanty night clothing in near freezing temperature were children. One tenant, Thomas Costello, 60, rescued through his bedroom window by Patrolmen John L. Griffin and Valentine Balutis, was given the last rites of the Catholic church at the scene.

He was attended by Rev. Christophere Griffin of St. Catherine's Church, Norwood, before he was rushed in a police ambulance to Norwood Hospital suffering from smoke inhalation and a badly cut hand. Later, hospital officials said his condition was fair.

Also hospitalized were Mrs. Joseph Briguglio and her three children, Donna Lee, 6 months; John Paul, 3, and Joseph, 2.

Firemen reported the blaze apparently started in the Costello apartment and spread through the half-frame, half-brick building. Tenants who fled the fire included Mrs. Costello, Louise Hennessey, 28, and her sisters, Marguerite, 30, and Elizabeth, 32; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schaire and their youngsters, Arthur, 7, Dolly 10, and Paul, 5.

Dodge Insists He Will Wed Despite Father's Wrath

DENVER, Oct. 23—In a determined effort to halt the scheduled marriage of his son, Cpl. Horace Dodge, III, and slim, red-haired Margery B. Gehman, daughter of a Buffalo, N. Y., professor, Maj. Horace Dodge, Jr., heir to one of the Dodge automobile fortunes, was reported en route here by plane today.

Meanwhile, the 21-year-old Lowry Field corporal and his fiancee insisted they would be married here tomorrow.

Marjory B. Gehman

Col. R. P. Todd, commanding officer at the field where young Dodge is a student in the Army Air Forces Technical Training Command, said the corporal's father had asked the Army to keep the youth confined "until he comes to his senses."

This, Army authorities refused to do asserting the corporal could be confined to his base only for military rule infractions.

Maj. Dodge was quoted as saying in New York:

"I'm not going to have my son make a damn fool of himself. I've done enough of that sort of thing myself."

The thrice-married major has been many times in the headlines himself, most recently in July when he was divorced in Reno by the former Martha "Mickey" Devine of South Boston, former choir singer and chorus girl.

Cpl. Dodge appeared not the least upset by reports of his father's arrival, nor did his fiancee, the daughter of Dr. Harry M. Gehman, dean of mathematics at the University of Buffalo. Said young Dodge, III:

"If he gets here on time, I'll ask him to be my best man at the wedding on Tuesday. I hope he accepts as Margery and I are going to be married then, provided I get my pass to go to downtown Denver. I am entitled to one pass a week—and one is due on Tuesday."

"Besides, I want him to approve my marriage. I hope he consents to be my best man."

Chinese Score Kwangsi Gains

CHUNGKING, Oct. 23 (AP)—A Chinese counter-attack against Japanese forces 21 miles north of Kweilin has scored "appreciable gains," the High Command announced tonight.

The communique also said Chinese counter-blows against the Japanese on the West River front had achieved considerable successes.

The Chinese attacks north of Kweilin, apparently designed to smash the enemy's threat to the Kwangsi Province city either by direct or outflanking operations, were launched Oct. 21.

Bay State Tops U. S. In War Zone Nurses

SOUTH PACIFIC BASE COMMAND, Oct. 23 (AP) — When a soldier stops a bullet in the Pacific war, his next step may be a tete-a-tete with a nurse from Massachusetts.

Army Medical Corps records now show that the "Bay State" supplies a disproportionately large share of the South Pacific's nursing talent. The nurses — 516 of them—serve in hospitals all the way from temperate New Zealand to sweltering Guadalcanal.

They all have one characteristic in common—they're doing a vital war job.

The South Pacific's excellent medical record has helped speed our offensive against the Japs. Nurses get a considerable part of the credit, supplying medical and technical skill available from no other sources.

Most of the Massachusetts nurses are completing their first year overseas. Others arrived with the first contingents of U. S. troops and lived in tents like soldiers in the field.

The tents have been displaced by comfortable army huts and dormitories, and hospitals offer the world's finest medical service.

"I came overseas because I wanted to be where I was needed most," said Lt. Alice E. Peterson, 36 Grove st., Milford, Mass., ward nurse at a New Caledonia hospital.

"I wouldn't have missed the experience for the world," said 2 Lt. Dorothy M. Rushbrook, Richmond, Mass. "Caring for the wounded is a privilege and worth any hardship."

Lt. Rushbrook does "general duty" at Guadalcanal.

Other Massachusetts nurses and their assignments include:

Hunt Vt. Murder Suspect Here

State and local police throughout Massachusetts today searched for Harold A. Frotten, 25, charged with shooting to death a Woodford, Vt., farmer and brutally beating the latter's 16-year-old daughter.

The youth, a former resident of Worcester and Lowell, had been traced to Worcester, where he abandoned a maroon truck owned by the Vermont victim. In the truck was found the smashed butt of a single-barrelled shotgun.

Shot to death at Woodford was Robert Stratton, 55, and in serious condition at a Bennington, Vt. hospital was Georgia Stratton, 16, who was slugged over the head with a gun butt when she went to her father's aid. Police said the trouble began when Harriet Stratton, 20, another daughter, who soon was to wed Frotten, left her home.

Star for Blinky

NEW YORK, Oct. 23 (INS) Sgt. Michael Ryan, the first man to plant the American flag on his sector of the Philippines beachhead on Leyte, today offered a silver star presented to him by Gen. MacArthur as a reward for the return of his dog, Blinky.

The offer was made in a letter to his wife Frances, which arrived almost simultaneously with mention of the Brooklyn sergeant in dispatches from the Philippines. Hearing his chow-and-collie was lost, Ryan wrote:

"Blinky and I were inseparable pals and his loss was the worst news I have received since I've been overseas."

Ryan won the silver star for rescuing a superior officer under fire in the Admiraltys.

18th Century Living Room Set

● With Pre-War Coil Spring Base—Back and Cushions
● In Extra Heavy Colonial Tapestry—Wears Like Iron
● With Carved Knuckle Grips and Claw and Ball Feet

In our quest to find living room pieces especially designed to go beautifully with Colonial period furniture—we were fortunate to find this lovely 18th Century living room set. To begin with, it's built with pre-war coil spring construction to assure absolute comfort. The rich, heavy Colonial tapestry covering is not only lovely to look at but wears like iron and is guaranteed for life against moths. Such decorator details as exquisitely carved knuckle grips (they prevent wear and soil at the ends of the arms), moulded base and claw and ball feet all beautifully hand-rubbed to an old world finish and the antique nail trim, give the pieces an air of refinement that is characteristic of fine 18th Century pieces.

The set includes the unusual Channel Back Divan and choice of Channel Back Wing Chair or Barrel Back Chair. Third major piece $69.95.

Harry Bridges Faces Vote Quiz

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 23—Harry Bridges, West Coast CIO leader under deportation order for Communistic activities, has been subpoenaed to testify today before a special congressional committee investigating political campaign expenditures.

This was announced by Rep. F. C. Gathings (D) of Arkansas, who is conducting the three-day hearing here.

"We want to know what is going on in all political organizations in the bay area and we are entitled to that information," said Gathings. "On the basis of our findings we will recommend remedial legislation on campaign expenditures to the House of Representatives."

Waste kitchen fats make explosives. Don't throw away a drop. Take them to your meat dealer.

UNTIL THE JAPS ARE LICKED—

We must keep on saving Used Fats!

DO YOU KNOW why our government had to ask you to save used fats in the first place? It was chiefly because the Japs had taken the Philippines, Java, Malaya . . . the places we used to depend on for a billion pounds of fats and oils every year. Well, the Japs still hold those places . . .

SO WHEN YOU HEAR good news from the European fronts, remember that those victories don't help our fat shortage problem. They increase it, for winning victories is a costly business that calls for more and more explosives, tanks, synthetic rubber, soaps, medicines and other war and civilian materials that need fats in the making.

THAT'S WHY your used kitchen fats are needed more than ever. So go right on saving them! Save all scrapings and drippings, and just as soon as the can is full, rush it to your butcher. He will give you 2 free red points and 4¢ for every pound. This is one of the important things you can do toward victory!

Sticks to Plane To Save Others

Residents of Fort Worth, Tex., today praised the daring of a Hyde Park pilot who refused to abandon his plane when the motor failed 4000 feet above the city.

After ordering his gunner to parachute to safety, the pilot set his craft down undamaged on a highway leading out of the city.

The pilot was identified as Marine Lt. Bernard L. LeBlanc, son of Mrs. A. J. LeBlanc of Wood ave. Fort Worth police said his courage probably saved residents of the area from death or serious injury.

N.E. Bataan Hero Saved at Leyte

PFC Jesse Bier, 30, of Dartmouth st., Lawrence, one of the courageous band captured by the Japs after Corregidor's fall, is the first Massachusetts man to be rescued in the Philippines, the Associated Press reported today from Gen. MacArthur's beachhead headquarters.

Also among the 83 prisoners of war rescued in the invasion of Leyte Island were Sgt. William I. Vaskell of Chacapackasset rd., Barrington, R. I., and Pvt. Francis Hoctor of Western ave., Biddeford, Me.

Bier was the only Bay Stater among the saved defenders of Corregidor. His parents, Dr. and Mrs. Max D. Bier, rejoiced today as the news of their son's rescue was received.

His misty-eyed mother said: "I just haven't ever been so happy in all my life. Our friends are happy about it, too. Our telephone has been ringing constantly."

Pvt. Bier and the 82 other men had ben on a Jap transport that was torpedoed off the Philippines shortly before the American invasion. They managed to get ashore and hide with guerrillas who took care of them until the American landing.

Bier was with a medical unit. During his long captivity his parents received five cards from him, through the Red Cross. He told them he was "well" but could provide little other information, due to the brevity forced on prisoners of war.

He had attended Lawrence public schools, Berkeley Preparatory School, Commonwealth ave., Boston; William and Mary College in Virginia and Suffolk Law School.

Bier gave up his law studies to enlist Oct. 16, 1940.

"He is going back to Suffolk Law School after the war," his mother said. "He though for a while of following his father and studying medicine but he decided the law was his field."

Bier's father practices medicine in offices at Amesbury st., Lawrence, where he was receiving congratulations from excited patients today.

"I'll bet he doesn't get much work done," predicted his wife.

Rebel WACs Face Action

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23—The Army today was expected to take summary action in the threat of more than 100 WACs to go AWOL at Ft. Belvoir, Va., in protest over methods employed by their commanding officer, Capt. Dorothy Tomhave.

Bone of contention, according to letters written to their congressmen by many of the disgruntled WACs, is the appointment of 1-Sgt. Gladys Davis by Capt. Tomhave.

The WACs also object to spending of company funds by their commanding officer to redecorate the mess hall and being forced to make new curtains on nights off. In protest, the 100 WACs led a "strike" which saw only 86 of 233 members show up for supper last Wednesday.

Another matter under protest is the transfer of Cpl. Marie Sayre, of Butler, Ind., recently voted as the most popular girl at the camp, to Ft. Meyer, Va. The girls charge Cpl. Sayre was "sold down the river" and that Ft. Meyer is a "dumping ground for unsuccessful girls."

The WACs also charge that Capt. Tomhave has violated her authority by calling many of them to her office and reprimanding them because they took their troubles to the chaplain.

MUSSOLINI TAKING DOPE

LONDON, Oct. 23 (INS)—Benito Mussolini is suffering from an acute form of depression, has turned to the church for solace and is reported to be taking drugs before making public appearances, the Rome radio was quoted as saying today.

LOCAL BOY
MAKES GOOD PROGRESS

NORTHEAST AIRLINES is somewhat like the young man next door. For a long time, you hardly noticed him, but suddenly you realize he has grown up and become the pride of the neighborhood.

Northeast is definitely New England born and raised, serving a vast neighborhood area. Northeast is an airline controlled by New Englanders, operated by New Englanders, and primarily for New Englanders. Northeast can be counted on to arrange its routes and schedules with due regard for the post-war business and recreational interests of this region.

Northeast Airlines is pleased to announce resumption of its Boston-Montreal route. Two round-trip flights daily are scheduled, with stops at Concord, N. H., Barre-Montpelier, and Burlington, Vt. This service, made possible by the return of equipment by the United States Army, has been planned to meet the transportation needs of essential travelers, mail, and express.

Looking to the future, Northeast has already been authorized by the Civil Aeronautics Board to operate from Boston to New York as soon as equipment is available. A direct Boston-New York route is planned, as well as one via Worcester and Waterbury, and another via New Bedford. Later, it hopes to provide service from Portland to New York, via Lawrence and Worcester, plus complete air coverage of Cape Cod points.

New England has reason to be proud of her native son — Northeast Airlines — whose present operations and future plans are so much part and parcel of the region it serves.

Veterans' Friend

By JAMES F. McENANEY

Q—I was honorably discharged from the Army due to a service-connected disability. I filed a claim with the Vets Administration and received a reply that my claim was recognized as service-connected, but it was below the 10 per cent rating. I was in the Army only 56 days. I would like to know if I am entitled to the loan provision under the GI bill? L. S., Medford.

A—Yes, you are eligible for all benefits under GI bill because your disability was service-connected, resulting in your discharge before you had completed at least 90 days active duty.

Q—I have a unique problem which might interest other World War II veterans as well as myself. I am 45 years old and qualify in all respects for benefits under the GI bill and have my mind set on buying a farm. Will I be able to enroll for an extension course at a selected agricultural school for the period of one year? During that period will I also receive the stipulated $500 for tuition, etc., and be paid $75 subsistence during the 12-month period? T. H., Newport.

A—Under the GI bill, if you are qualified to enter farming, you may make application for a refresher course which is for a 12-month period. Approval of your application provides you with the $75 subsistence, tuition, etc.

Q—My husband was inducted into the armed forces four days ago. Am I entitled to $150 maternity pay? If so, where should I apply? If not, where can I get aid for my first child? [illegible] G. W.

A—[illegible] Your husband makes this application upon his arrival at camp for active duty. For aid, suggest that you contact Red Cross Chapter in Newspaville or Soldier's Relief Commissioner at Newton City Hall.

Q—I received an honorable discharge from the Army under W. D. Cir. No. 39-1943 to enter defense work, being over 38 years of age. Do I come under the new WMC ruling which allows a veteran to accept any kind of a job? J. J. M., Boston.

A—I have been informed that the answer is yes, but in many cases the WMC has not exercised that directive and they give no reason.

Q—What is meant by active duty? I see by your column that in order to be eligible for GI bill one must have at least served 90 days active duty. Does that mean as far as Navy concerned from time you go aboard ship? M. E. H., Newport.

A—Active duty means from the time you arrive at a naval base, army post, or camp and are under military or naval orders and subject to rules and regulations, until time of separation from service.

Questions submitted to Veterans Friend Editor, Boston Evening American, 3 Winthrop sq., Boston 6, Mass., will be answered in this daily column.

YOUR BALLOT IS SECRET

TO ALL MEMBERS OF CIO UNION:

YOU ARE being "solicited" by Sidney Hillman's Political Action Committee to open your well-earned pay envelopes and make a "voluntary" and "nonpolitical" contribution to the campaign funds of the fourth-term candidate for the Presidency.

Many of you feel that you are COMPELLED to make this "contribution."

Of course, you, as free American citizens, bitterly resent this political imposition.

Furthermore, many of you are led to believe that the Political Action Committee not only "checks" your "contribution" but will also follow you to the polls and will know how you vote.

Consequently, you may feel that you MUST vote for the fourth-term candidate.

This impression is utterly false.

It is your American RIGHT, as it is your American DUTY, to obey the dictates of YOUR OWN CONSCIENCE in the SANCTITY OF THE POLLING BOOTH.

No "labor boss" can deprive you of that inalienable right.

The Political Action Committee may extort your humble dollar, but it cannot filch away from you your honest suffrage.

YOUR BALLOT IS SECRET.

YOUR BALLOT does not have to be "cleared with Sidney"—and IT WILL NOT BE.

SHAMEFUL

THE "CYNICISM" of the New Deal Administration and its most eminent spokesmen, as Governor Bricker said in his Los Angeles speech, has no bounds.

Sen. Harry S. Truman, as the Democratic Vice-Presidential nominee, is surely to be regarded as one of the MOST eminent of New Deal spokesmen.

And when Mr. Truman was questioned in Los Angeles about his attitude toward a Democratic candidate for Congress in California who has been exposed as a former member and official of the once notorious and infamous Ku Klux Klan, he said:

"If he's OURS we're FOR him."

The Democratic Congressional candidate referred to is Hal Styles, a radio announcer of sufficient notoriety in the Los Angeles area to win the nomination of his party for a seat in the law-making body of the nation.

Subsequent to his nomination, Mr. Styles was disclosed to have had a previous residence in a community of New York State and to have been an active and leading affiliate of the Ku Klux Klan in that community. In consequence of the subsequent disclosure, he has been REPUDIATED by many important Democratic groups and individuals.

Senator Truman CONSULTED with Hal Styles in Los Angeles, and FRATERNIZED with him, and when pressed for a judgment upon him and his candidacy accepted and endorsed him as "One of ours."

This would be a shameful philosophy for any AMERICAN political party to proclaim. For as Governor Bricker said in Los Angeles:

"Senator Truman tore away the skroud and revealed New Deal cynicism in all its ugliness . . .

"This gentleman COULD become the President of the United States.

"The time has come to ELIMINATE SUCH CYNICISM FROM OUR POLITICAL LIFE and to restore the Presidency of the United States to its rightful place of dignity and honesty."

But the soft eye of blue,

Is much better pleased when it

MOST black-eyed girls enjoy kicking men's hearts around. Blue-eyed girls prefer to be in love with one man and stay that way forever. Brown-eyed girls are somewhat flirtatious but only in a small way. They are not heart breakers like the black-eyed females. Green-eyed girls are of a jealous nature. Those with green gray eyes are inclined to think with the head rather than the heart.

Myrna Loy

Such is the belief of experts on the subject according to our Horses & Women File. No. 1166D. I must check the green-eyed comment with Myrna Loy . . . Most people marry between the ages of 20 and 33. In that age group in the United States there are now more than twice as many spinsters as bachelors. The bachelors referred to are civilian bachelors. When the fighting bachelors return the husband-hunting situation will be much improved. If a young woman cannot wait until the boys come home and will be satisfied with a man in barracks, the best place to find one is in the West up in Alaska or in some of the small towns. So state experts of the matrimonial bureaus. In the public eye, as a symbol of [illegible] Loy is a good bet. [illegible] and Loy's [illegible] can be matched by many.

A MODEST MAN. He's being [illegible] daughter of Hiram C. Mc[illegible] regents of the university. Says she: "My father never [illegible] about his being correct. I wish he had as I would like to tell my children more about their grandfather's achievements in this way." (Note: "Elbows" McFadden was before my time. I understand his nickname was inspired by the fact that he made considerable use of his elbows when fighting in close.)

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q Answer the following or forward a Havana cigar by return mail. What popular superstition has greatly increased the profits of what industry? A—Easy question. The belief it is unlucky for three people to light their cigarettes with one match has aided the match industry. As a matter of fact, the European match industry by means of clever propaganda kept this superstition in the minds of the public. Originally the idea of three men not lighting their cigarettes on one match was not a superstition but was based on common sense. During World War I, when three soldiers at the front used one match to light their cigarettes, the steadily burning flame gave the enemy sharpshooters a target.

ASIDES: Those who favor Prohibition and who campaign for it are making much progress because of many victories in local option elections. Twenty-five million people in the United States now live in legally dry areas . . . A young oldtimer is a fellow who remembers the film titled "Traffic in Souls." This picture ran in eight theaters on Broadway at the same time. It was produced for about $8000 and grossed a couple of million at the box office.

SUGGESTION: Louie the Waiter's Restaurant. That is the name of an establishment on Sixth ave., Manhattan. No doubt when Louie went into business for himself some of his former customers switched their patronage to his place. Some of these "Oomph Girl" waitresses in coffee shops have huge followings. Might be a good idea for some ambitious tray queen to go into business for herself. An establishment with a sign: "Alice the Red-Haired Waitress' Restaurant" might attract attention. Or, maybe, three waitresses could go into business together and start a place called "Sally, Irene and Mary's."

Carmen Miranda

My wife often asks questions like that. They baffle me. She never gets a satisfactory answer but still asks me. In this connection, I am informed by Marguerite Churchill, former film actress who now runs a hat shop in Manhattan, that she is about to conduct a course for husbands which will enable them to be "good judges" of their wives' hats. Sounds like a noble experiment. It should help men whose wives wear hats like Carmen Miranda's.

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

(Copyright, 1944, by King Features Synd., Inc.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 23—Laws and court decisions are dull reading material and so is this beginning but if you will hang around a minute I will try to explain something important in a way that will make you good and sore and thus hold your interest.

Westbrook Pegler

Do you realize that the bosses of the labor unions have a right, under the decisions of the New Deal Supreme Court, to collect a sales tax on your food, your clothing, your fuel for your home, your laundry bill and every other article you buy or service you employ such as bus and taxicab fares and your daily rides up and down in the elevator to your office?

Do you realize that as far as the Federal law is concerned, the bosses don't have to account for it to their members or to any public authority?

I WISH those who are members of unions would pay particular attention because some of them think anything written against any union practice is anti-labor and I mean to show that their loyalty to the cause of unionism is being exploited by union political bosses who are their worst enemies.

The simplest illustration is the case of Jimmy Petrillo's American Federation of Musicians.

Under the constitution of this union, Jimmy has all the powers, short of the firing squad, that Mussolini had, because the constitution heads off with a provision that he may suspend all or any part of it at his own sweet pleasure and substitute any whim of his own.

Under our Federal laws and the decisions of the New Deal Supreme Court, this union constitution is legal and no government authority may change it. And, of course, the members, as subjects, within reason, can't change it, because the minute any such move is made Jimmy can just suspend the constitution and rule by decree.

Jimmy has set out to collect a sales tax from the manufacturers on every single phonograph record produced for use in your home or in the juke box in a tavern.

YOU MIGHT as well say that it is wrong to use a milk bottle twice or that you shouldn't be allowed to use an automobile beyond a certain mileage without paying a tax to the United Auto Workers of the CIO.

Anyway, this right to tax a commodity has here been recognized and the most that President Roosevelt has been willing to do is to plead with Jimmy to be reasonable. But Jimmy is reasonable. He is taking advantage of his legal rights, conferred on him by the Roosevelt government and the New Deal Supreme Court and no reasonable person can criticize a man for asserting his rights under the law.

Jimmy says he is going to use the money to support unemployed musicians. But the law doesn't compel him to do so and the fact is that he is not doing so. Until he decides that he has enough money in hand, he intends to build up the treasury which has four million dollars even now.

ALL THIS means that every other union has the same right to tax the public and it is a fact that many of them are doing it. Why not? They have a right to, haven't they?

Their taxing power here is higher than that of the government, itself, and moreover, it takes priority over the government's taxing power. And, still moreover, none of these treasuries is taxable by the government.

Of course, their power to collect an income tax on your pay also comes before the government's income taxing power because if you don't pay the union you can't work and thus can't earn anything on which to pay the Federal income tax.

HOW MUCH revenue does this offer the unions? It runs up into billions. Why, even the income taxing power right now, on the basis of forty million employed workers, at the modest rate of $30 a year per member, assuming that they all are compelled to join as the Roosevelt Government desires, amounts to two billion a year, all immune from any accounting, subject to no tax and, as far as the law is concerned, all at the free, personal disposal of the union bosses.

Do you, who are union members, think it wise to set up a rival taxing power, greater and stronger than the taxing power of the very government of the nation?

Mr. Roosevelt has demonstrated that he does think so but remember that he is the supreme head of the movement with all but a few stubborn eccentrics included in his following and that he gets the political benefit of this financial power.

That was exactly the way Mussolini did it.

Hollywood Today

By Dorothy Manners

Substituting for Louella O. Parsons, Who Is on Vacation

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 23 — Gregory Peck should worry that he's cut up like a melon between four Hollywood companies—Selznick, RKO, Casey Robinson and 20th Century-Fox. Halved and quartered though he may be, he's getting practically the pick of the best-seller crop and adds another fiction hero's scalp to his long list of plum roles by getting the co-starring role opposite Gene Tierney in "Dragonwyck."

After completing "Keys of the Kingdom" at 20th he moved over to M-G-M for "Valley of Decision" with Greer Garson, then to Selznick for "Spellbound" with Ingrid Bergman.

With that lineup, how can he lose? "Dragonwyck" is definitely scheduled for one of 20th's "specials" of 1945, with Ernst Lubitsch producing and perhaps directing, if his health permits. Peck has one picture a year to make for 20th, and the Anya Seton romance will be his 1945 chore.

WESLEY RUGGLES has not one, but three, stories lined up to make in London for Arthur Rank's American company. "London Town" has been announced—but Wes' next two are "The Mad Colonel of St. Milo" and "Liberation." "The Mad Colonel" is based on the exploits of the Nazi general who sent word at St. Milo that his men would fight to the last ditch, and then surrendered with his entire staff roaring drunk, band blaring and troops marching in a parade! Ruggles got the color of the story from a young private, Harry Babcock, and whipped up his own original yarn.

EARL CARROLL has been very choosy selecting an actor to play him in "The Earl Carroll Vanities." He turned down six candidates and said his real choice was Joseph Santley, director of the picture. Maybe it's because Santley has a full head of curly hair—something which Earl ain't! In spite of Carroll's admiration for Santley's locks, Republic hasn't yet said "okay." Why not? He used to be a good actor.

AMONG OTHER things I never knew is that Capt. Gene Markey and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower both came from Company F, 19th Infantry, and both of them, I'll say, have gone a long way. This information comes from Louis Wolff, who writes: "I read with interest in your column of Capt. Gene Markey's appointment as assistant to the Secretary of the Navy. I felt proud of his promotion, and to say he is capable of doing a good job is putting it mildly. I had the pleasure of soldiering under him when he was a first lieutenant of Infantry, and what a swell officer he made. When he entered the war I was surprised to hear that he was in the Navy because he was strictly an Army man, but, Army or Navy, he made good in both branches."

SGT. MELBERT MOLYNEAUX, stationed in France, writes to Bing Crosby: "Hey, Bing—the nasty Nazis are using your records for propaganda almost as much as our side plays them. Can't understand why they figure you could ever break our morale, but somebody explained to me that hearing you was supposed to make us homesick or something. What they don't know is that when those Krauts broadcast your wonderful records, the guys come out of the brush from all directions to listen—and feel 100 per cent better. Whether your songs come from Berlin or Hollywood, you're tops with the Yanks."

SIDE-LINES: The candid camera photogs around the night clubs call Gloria De Haven "The Comb." She's always doing and re-doing her hair in public . . . Attention Bobby Sockers: While Harry James is playing the Meadowbrook at Cedar Grove, N. J., he will live at a nearby inn because gas rationing won't permit commuting to New York every day. He opens Oct. 31, but Betty Grable can't go along . . . Steve Crane is sporting a couple of new shiners, but he got them in friendly combat this time - boxing at the Hollywood Athletic Club . . . The origin that Clifford Odets is writing for Cary Grant has a Hollywood background, and Cary plays a Hollywood producer. There's no title. But Odets says the story is very, very serious. What? About a movie producer? . . . Peggy Lloyd, the sub-deb daughter of Harold, was out on the Warner lot selling tickets to the co-ed garden party for the Sister Kenny Fund. Jean Negulesco offered her a little part in "Nobody Lives Forever"—but Harold says: "No. If she wants to be an actress she should start the right way at dramatic school or at the little theaters."

HOLLYWOOD IN SPOTS: The Walter Scotts expect the stork . . . Lt. Comdr. Lloyd B. Wilson, Jr., is now on the west coast on temporary duty . . . Jan Sterling is not on the sick list, but Jane Farrar replaced Margaret Early in "A Song for Miss Julie" because Margaret had the flu. . . . What Lucretia William Rowland didn't know is that Jan injected her work directly from St. Joseph's Hospital, following an appendectomy.

ILONA MASSEY is resigning at M-G-M, where she got her first movie break, the George Hurrells (she's the former fashion designer, Phyllis Hurrell) expect the stork; William S. Hart was asked to spearhead the official committee for the annual selection of best western actors of the year but turned it down. Bill says he is now completely through with Hollywood and his interests are elsewhere; Humphrey Bogart's set at Warners is closed so tightly after the divorce news broke that even the F. A. can't get on; during a huddle about where to premiere "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn" somebody had the bright idea of Brooklyn. So it's official now; the Dana Andrews third baby may arrive for a Christmas present; John Carroll on the M-G-M lot in "Cross" for the first time getting a royal greeting.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23—Frank Case, the Algonquinite, is very ill at Doctors Hospital . . The thrill is gone with Nan Bennett, the glamorous secretary, and Leo Durocher, the Dodgers' duke. Hollywood bids for "Bloomer Girl" have already passed $500,000

Boston After Dark

MONDAY MUSINGS: Take 10 or 15 minutes out of "Harvey," Mary Chase's fine fantasy at the Copley, and the Frank Fay starring play may well loom as a candidate for both annual awards, the Pulitzer and the Critics' Circle . . . Miss Chase's writing is so excellent, and her sense of both comedy and dramatic values so sharp, that it perhaps is brash and unnecessary to advise her about the important task of elision which remains ahead of her.

NEVERTHELESS, IT WOULD BE tragic to let the weakly-named "Harvey" brave the New York "death watch" without contributing every possible aid to the writer, to Producer Brock Pemberton and the nearly ideal cast which is interpreting the play in its Boston tryout . . . Where "Harvey" needs cutting is in its first scenes, entertaining though they be . . . At least five minutes can come out of the first scene of the first act without unclarifying the opus, or limiting the characterization.

THE TELEPHONE SCENE between Josephine Hull, the superb actress, and the society reporter can be cut safely enough . . . The scene between Miss Hull and her man-seeking daughter, played nicely by Jane Van Duser—the scene wherein an offstage reception is envisioned without the needed adjunct of at least a murmur of a nearby crown—can be slashed . . . Of course, in the larger 48th Street Theater, off Broadway, no such delay in scenechanging will slow up proceedings as it does at the Copley.

AS FOR THAT TITLE . . . "The Pooka", original title of the Chase play, was discarded because of the confusion supposedly inspired in the public by the unfamiliar name, which is a fairy-word from the Gaelic . . . The public might refer to the Pooka as if the "oo" rhymed with "u" in "duke" . . . Only Shakespeare, when the Bard tells of infants mewling in their mothers' arms, has been able to make literature the classic Elizabethan word that tells so crisply of the infants' other nasty little habit.

THE ATTENTION and respect which the writing will claim should be enough to overcome any public irreverence . . . We think that "The Pooka" is a better title than "Harvey" . . . As for Mr. Fay, words are puny in praising him . . . Hollywood will be trying to upset Producer Pemberton's plans to run "Harvey" a year on Broadway the night the play opens in New York . . . Mr. Fay is in for the sort of rush the Hollywood magnates gave Monty Woolley, after "The Man Who Came To Dinner" . . . Frank proves himself an actor of stature, and his thoughtful, considered performance resists every temptation to play the role other than "straight" . . . He is immense—a real star . . . The little-used Copley Theatre is a handicap to any play—at this stage of its career . . . No other reason can be advanced for the failure of Boston play-goers to stampede "Harvey" . . . It should be selling out before the week is over.

BROCK PEMBERTON takes a sly poke at the Watch and Ward in a brief before-curtain speech . . . "If there are any agents of the Watch and Ward Society in the house, they may go home," the producer of 'Harvey" declares in warning audiences of unavoidable delays in shifting the scenery . . . "This is a nice clean play."

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23—A fellow named Garfield Crawford was on the witness stand before the Senate Campaign Expenditures Committee the other day. Mr. Crawford said he was currently engaged in raising money for the Common People's Radio Committee.

This committee, he said, is needed by Sen. W. Lee O'Daniel of Texas and is openly fighting the New Deal.

Mr Crawford said he was asking the common people of America to contribute. Sen. Theodore Francis Green of Rhode Island, chairman of the investigating committee, asked what luck he was having.

Pretty good, Mr. Crawford responded. He said he had gotten $25,000 from Sen. Ed Moore of Oklahoma, and another 25 G's from H. R. Cullen, Houston, Texs., oil man.

"They each gave $25,000!" said Senator Green. "And you think they're common people?"

"Gosh!" cried the witness. You ought to see them!"

IT HAPPENS that Senator Moore is a multi-millionaire. But I feel inclined to agree with the witness that he is a common man.

At least you'd never mistake him for a Hapsburg, or even a Bourbon (the non-potable Bourbons).

But I wondered how he felt about himself so I called his office and asked his secretary.

"I don't recall the subject ever coming up," she said. "Why don't you ask him. You can get him at his home in Tulsa."

"I should call all the way to Oklahoma just to ask him if he thinks he's a common man?" I yelped. "Listen—it's Sen. Moore that has all the dough, not me! I'll wait 'till he comes back to town and get the information for a nickel."

Nevertheless, I get to thinking about this common man stuff, and the question naturally arose:

"When a guy amasses a lot of dough does he cease being a common man and become something set apart from humanity?"

It is easy for a lug like me to ask questions like this, but it is harder to get authoritative answers because I do not know many people with sugar. The only rich man I ever knew well was a copper in South Philadelphia, but he lost it all in legal fees explaining to a grand jury how he got it.

Well, I was in a quandary when Miss Reid said:

"Maybe Mr. Bernard M. Baruch is in town. He has more money than Croesus."

"You mean 'creases' in his trousers?" I asked. Miss Reid said she did not.

She phoned the Carlton Hotel and, by golly, Mr. Baruch was there.

"Listen, Mr. Baruch," I said, "this question may seem a bit out of the ordinary, but do you consider yourself a common man?"

The man who advises the Government's advisers replied:

"I guess I never thought about it. A man who thinks about himself never gets anything done."

Then he added this piece of philosophy which I pass on to you:

"This may answer your question—if you will think it over for a few minutes:

"A man who lets his money control him is in a bad way. But a man who controls his money is a fortunate man!"

THERE IS a lot of unproductive work in getting out a column, and I often wish somebody appreciated it. All kinds of time is wasted on cuckoo tips.

For instance, an excited party who refused to give his name—and I don't wonder, now—called up Saturday.

"I think I have something terrific!" he spluttered. "I was crossing on a Staten Island ferry the other day and I overheard two lawyers talking. At least I think they were lawyers. They had brief cases.

"Do you know what they said? There's a law prohibiting anyone from running for public office under an alias!

"Get the significance? It means Sen. Harry S. Truman can't run for Vice-President because that isn't his right name. It's only Harry Truman.

He just made up the 'S'."

The thing was just daffy enough to get me agitated. So I spent hours trying to contact authorities.

I finally got Sen. Homer T. Bone, of Washington. He is about to leave here to become a justice of the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals out on the West Coast, so he ought to know his constitutional law.

"Ridiculous!" said Senator Bone. "Lots of people have run for office under aliases. Look at Runt Bishop, Puss-the-Biscuits O'Daniel, and even Ham Fish.

"You can even get married under a phoney name and the law makes it stick. Supposing you had given the name 'John Doe' when you were married!"

"But I didn't," I said. "I wasn't thinking fast enough."

"It wouldn't have mattered," said Senator Bone. "That law is specific on that point. Your wife didn't marry your name. She married your corporate body."

"She did!" I shuddered. "How unromantic!"

"Yes," agreed Senator Bone, "and she's stuck with it. She can't even sell the pelt."

So I guess I haven't found a way yet to keep Truman out of the Vice-Presidency. Bricker will have to do it!

Star Shine

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 23— I was delighted to read of the hit that "Bloomer Girl" scored on Broadway. Somehow I feel associated with this play, for I know the boys who are responsible for putting it together; in fact, I was in at the beginning and saw it grow as Arlen and Harburg did the music and Saidy and Herzig did the book.

I would visit Yip Harburg in his office at Metro. He was a producer there. Fred Saidy and Sig Herzig had the adjoining office, and they were doing a picture for Yip. They had a piano in their office and Arlen would be around sometime, playing tunes. The group generally had lunch together at the Writers' Table, and after a new musical had opened on Broadway and was a hit despite a so-so book and a so-so score, the boys would say: "We ought to do a musical. Broadway's a pushover for a good show."

THE PICTURE that Yip, Fred and Sig worked on didn't turn out to be much. It was panned and was a flop.

Yip resigned from his steady job with a good income to gamble on his idea, "Bloomer Girl." Herzig's deal was through, and Saidy had an option coming up and the studio didn't renew. Saidy, if you must know, was making only $75 a week. His option called for a tilt to $100.

I HEARD parts of the book as Fred and Sig kept writing it. I heard the songs as Arlen and Harburg turned them out. I even went on record about "Bloomer Girl" in the column, but I'm not saying this to be able to say "I told you so." I am thrilled because Arlen, Harburg, Saidy and Herzig, who said they would do a musical that would be as good as "Oklahoma," called their shot and came through. It wasn't merely idle table talk.

And I am particularly delighted because of the success of Fred Saidy. Arlen, Harburg and Herzig have been in the chips before and have been connected with Broadway shows, but this is all new for Saidy, the $75-a-week scenario writer who didn't have his option picked up.

Schools

with NO provisions for the control of fires.

"Boston has been fortunate in not having school fires which resulted in loss of life as conditions in buildings are decidedly favorable for serious fires."

The report stressed many potential fire hazards, such as storing of kindling wood in a stairwell, or lumber used in manual training under a combustible roof; storage of discarded, inflammable equipment in switch and boiler rooms, storage of gasoline and other volatile fluids without proper safeguard, and generally poor condition of hoselines, some of which were found without nozzles or valve wheels.

"Inspection of potential fire hazards in the Boston schools is not well done," the report continued, and charged that complaints by inspectors had not been acted upon in some cases for more than a year.

The report also points to the large number of outside fire escapes as evidence of the "unreliability" of inside stairway exits. Access to fire escapes in many cases was described as "inadequate" and many were labeled "unsafe."

In recommending the closing of 35 of the city's elementary schools, the report declared a saving of $141,000 would be accomplished in the annual budget, the average age of school buildings would be decreased 10 per cent and the capacity increased in the remaining buildings.

The report declared the budget figure of $171,000 for supervision, inspection and administration in plant operation and maintenance could be reduced by $100,000 a year without impairing efficiency.

MAINTENANCE CONTRACTS

It asserted an additional $100,000 could be saved by keeping a staff of maintenance mechanics to perform the bulk of work now let out to private concerns. Such employes, the report said, could do additional simple maintenance work, requiring no special skills, which are now done on contract at a cost of $50,000 yearly.

In the past, the report stated, the Boston schools were not built to conform to the physical and educational needs of the pupils and it expressed fear of repetition of these mistakes because of the lack of a long-range schoolhouse building policy.

"Boston must stop building schoolhouses on impulse," it continues, "based on the wants of the neighborhood and momentary population conditions. Neither Boston nor any other city can afford this extravagance."

The report noted that the program of food service in the schools was at present in the early stages of general reorganization after having had nine different types of operation.

Weaknesses found in the survey were lack of uniformity in the quality of food and the prices charged; absence of accounting control and differences of employment policies and wage schedules for school cafeteria workers.

"The business organization is indefensibly unintegrated and dismembered," it claims. "There can be no single plan of operation, no responsible head because there are four responsible heads."

Discussing the school budget, the report pointed out it was completed and adopted in the middle of the fiscal year it was supposed to anticipate.

The survey showed that multiple accounts were kept for similar financial operations with no gain in accuracy and that most accounting operations were done manually, causing delays and increased costs.

Auditing was found to be done by three and sometimes four persons, none of them effectively.

Beauty — Liquid Cake Make-up in Five Shades — Fashion

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

A LUNCHEON-TABLE is sometimes a wonderful proving ground. We had been discussing liquid cake make-ups . . . the beautifying facial cosmetic which has swept the country and been such a glorious boon to women's faces . . . when suddenly my charming companion whipped out a vial containing a teaspoon of her company's outstanding liquid cake make-up . . . and emptied its contents into a glass of water.

By all rights, the oil in the product should have risen to the water's surface . . . as happens in other similar-type products . . . since oil and water do not mix. But not this one. We watched the change in utter amazement . . . for the only change was the water's change of color to a luscious-looking peach . . . which made it appear as edible as a peach frappe. There was no separation . . . this liquid cake make-up proved it was as compatible with water as a duck is.

This action was its unusual difference . . . a difference mighty important to any woman using a liquid cake make-up . . . and who isn't these days? Yet, despite its complete solubility with water . . . it is definitely, but definitely . . . a non-drying liquid facial beautifier. That's because it contains bentonite and mono-glycerine-sterate. And, because of these two noted ingredients . . . it is particularly good for dry skin.

FOR INSTANT BEAUTY . . . there is an unusual liquid cake make-up . . . that won't reappear on your skin's surface because it is compatible with the elements of the skin . . . is definitely non-drying because of two noted chemical ingredients . . . and is a complexion transformer that will make you look younger, rested and more radiant . . . with an alive-facial vitality like Paramount Star Barbara Stanwyck's.

FIVE FLATTERING SHADES

It is especially good for the skin with a breaking-out tendency . . . that can't be usually smeared with this or that foundation for fear of aggravating the condition. In addition to producing an invisible beauty film on the face . . . because it has a definite affinity for the elements of the skin . . . and will mix thoroughly with them . . . it will not cause skin allergies or infections. It brings untold loveliness to the skin . . . we know. The girl with the even features doesn't even have to use powder over it . . . although, perhaps, you and I are not so blessed and must apply a touch of powder to intensify the radiant glow of this beauty film.

Have no fear if a bump or two is on your face. It won't be seen under the complete yet totally unmasky effect of this glorious coverage. There will be no slightly oily reappearance of the foundation on your skin with this product. It merges with your skin elements so thoroughly . . . yet amazingly at the same time . . . gives it a younger, rested, more radiant look . . . a soft, luminous, dewy look which every woman desires. It comes in five flattering shades.

For the name of this unusually liquid cake make-up, phone the Beauty Dept., LIberty 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

A BIG DISTRACTION atop the most casual outfit is a little fur hat. With a matching fur coat . . . it's elegance plus. This beaver topper . . . dead center and forward . . . covering the forehead . . . intensifies the eyes and virtually makes them speak. A huge brown satin bow perched in back . . . is reminiscent of a Victorian hairdo. Don't you love it? RKO star Claire Trevor poses.—R. M.

Some Lunch Box 'Musts'

By MARTHA LEE

WAR-WORKER, homemaker, student, business girl—it's zest and healthy energy that's prized today—zest for the building of a happier world ahead; energy, so that day by day we can build our own small share.

Zest may come from the mind and the spirit — but energy comes from health. And good health, of course, comes from a proper balance of work, play, rest, and sound nutrition.

It's really easy to form the habit of eating these foods that best supply and replenish the body with vitamins, minerals and other essential nutrients. Government nutritionists have arranged them into seven easy-to-remember groups, the "Basic Seven." Here they are—see how many can easily be included in a lunch box:

Group 1: Green and yellow vegetables.

Group 2: Oranges, tomatoes, grapefruit (or raw cabbage or salad greens).

Group 3: Potatoes, other vegetables and fruits.

Group 4: Milk and milk products (including cheese and ice cream).

Group 5: Meat, poultry, fish or eggs (or dried beans, peas, nuts or peanut butter).

Group 6: Bread, flour, cereals natural whole grain or enriched.

Group 7: Butter and fortified margarine (with added vitamin A).

Your "good nutrition" for the day isn't complete unless you've eaten at least one food from each of these basic seven groups.

Four of them can be included in your breakfast menu (can you find these four?). All of them can be represented in a lunch box menu, though the amount of each, perhaps, is small.

In addition to the "Basic Seven," eat any other foods you want—and when it comes to adding the necessary liquid intake, there's nothing more refreshing than your favorite soft drink.

Government nutritionists recommend that each cold lunch should be planned to include:

Meat, fish, poultry, eggs, cheese, legumes, or nuts—either in sandwich fillings or in hearty salads.

Bread—either whole-wheat or enriched.

Vegetables—at least one, either in a sandwich filling, salad or as a relish.

Fruit—a whole fresh fruit, cooked fruit, fruit salad, or fruit pudding.

Milk—to drink or in a pudding.

SANDWICH FILLINGS

Cream or Cottage Cheese: Combine with jelly, jam or marmalade, drained chopped canned or stewed fruit, chopped dates, figs, nut meats, olives, minced cucumber, celery, parsley, green pepper, onion, leeks, radishes, lettuce.

Peanut Butter: Combine with any tart jelly, with dried or well drained stewed prunes, with raisins, spiced fruit, tomato catsup, or cold crisply cooked bacon.

Hard-cooked Eggs: Combine with mayonnaise and chives, chopped stuffed olives, chopped onion, minced ham, chili sauce, raw chopped spinach, mustard pickle, lettuce.

American Cheese: Spread with sliced stuffed olives, onion, tomato, sliced ham, crisp bacon, anchovy paste, tart preserves, honey, thin sliced spiced meat.

Jelly and Jam: Combine with cream cheese, or peanut butter, with chopped nut meats, thin sliced cooked meats.

Fish: Combine with mayonnaise, celery, cucumber, chopped egg, sliced tomatoes, olives, cole slaw, chopped green pepper, lettuce.

SANDWICHES FOR THE LUNCHBOX

Denies He's Married

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I'm a girl of 19 in love with a marine who is 20 years of age. He says he's in love with me also. He is from a town near where I live, and asked me to go over and meet his family. This boy is now in the Central Pacific. When I met his family, they informed me that their son is married, but he said that is news to him.

Now I don't know whom to believe—the marine or his family. What do you think is best in my case? M. T. K.

The marine's family may have told you he is married because they hope to keep him from taking such a step until things are more settled than at present. On the other hand, he may actually have been married, and is just "kidding" you along.

In either case before making any decisive step, you must find out positively who is telling the truth, the marine or his family. At 19 you've plenty of time to watch your step and not rush things.

My Day

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

HYDE PARK, Sunday Yesterday I accompanied my husband on his trip around New York. It is a long time since we have done anything of this kind. In spite of the bad weather, it was an interesting experience, and I was glad that the President had this stimulating drive and could attend the rally for Sen Wagner.

The luncheon Friday for the Democratic National Committee was made really delightful by Clifton Fadiman, who presided and, in addition, made a very eloquent speech.

In the afternoon, I enjoyed the exhibition at the Vanderbilt gallery very much. There are some very interesting portraits and pieces of sculpture included. Jo Davidson has made a tremendous head of the President which faces you as you go in, and is enlarged from the small one. Both are remarkable likenesses.

FRIDAY EVENING I saw Rose Franken's play, "Soldier's Wife." It is witty and entertaining; and though perhaps no real lesson was intended, it certainly carries one.

This particular soldier's wife found herself an authoress overnight, but decided that her marriage meant more to her than all the possibilities temptingly held out to her. There may be a good many wives to whom this play will be more than an entertaining evening.

I HAD A VERY NICE note from a French woman who took refuge in England when France fell. She says:

"I may mention that for the last 10 months I have had the good fortune of meeting and entertaining some of your boys in khaki. I think they are real, grand 'guys,' from a grand country. I have made several friends amongst them, and would like you to know that their behavior has been of the best.

"They have shown kind hearts toward the children over here, and lovely consideration toward the aged people.

"Personally, I have nothing but praise to give on their behalf; and thanks to one of them, now somewhere in France, I have been able to ascertain that my parents are still all right after four years under the German heel."

Short Fur Coats Still Popular

By BETTINA BEDWELL

SHORT fur coats are forging ahead of all other kinds in popularity. These boxy, breezy, big-sleeved items in the fur coat fashions get about 100 per cent backing from the younger set.

Mostly they come in flat furs like nutria, Persian lamb and sealskin. They aren't too dressy to wear to work in the cold, gray dawn, and then go home in glory over an evening gown in the same cold, gray dawn. About the most demanded fur is the one called Laskin Mouton, which looks like a twin sister of beaver or seal, depending on its color. And it doesn't cost more than a good cloth coat, which helps out a lot.

One model is sketched. This is the pea jacket coat, and it has handsome revers and a tailored collar, with the dashing wide sleeves of the luxury coat. It fastens on plastic buttons in a double-breasted fashion.

There was a first class mystery today right in the South Boston Courthouse.

Sometime between noon yesterday and 8 o'clock this morning somebody broke into the probation office, forced a cabinet and a strongbox, and got away with $152.50.

The mystery was how the burglar got into the building at all, since no window or door showed any sign of a break.

"Hottest thing in warfare"—the M-18 HELLCAT!

Anti-Tank 'Demon' Speeds Nazi Rout

Army Observer, Back From France, Calls M-18 'Hottest Thing in Armored Warfare'

That's the M-18 Hellcat designed by Buick in cooperation with Tank Destroyer and Ordnance experts

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24—Smashing performances in France have proved the effectiveness of the Army's new tank destroyer, the speedy M-18, the War Department indicated today.

"The M-18 is the hottest thing in today's armored warfare," said [redacted], Army automotive expert, who is home from front-line observations with the Third Army.

"It is the streamlined speed demon that put a streak of lightning in our drive across France into Germany," he said.

[redacted], who recently reported back to headquarters of the Army Ground Forces after a month in the Normandy battles, said that the 18½-ton M-18 completely fulfilled expectations of ordnance experts.

Attached to a tank destroyer battalion, [redacted] obtained close-up accounts of the M-18's impressive performance while witnessing action in Brest, St. Lo, Le Mans, Orleans and St. Malo.

The unit which the captain observed once covered sixty-five miles in three and a half hours in combat and in another drive it traveled 165 miles in a day and a half, part of the way under blackout conditions.

The vehicle's mechanical system permits complete installation of a new engine in one and three-quarters hours. The ten bogey wheels operate independently. Thus one broken wheel will not incapacitate the vehicle, which mounts a 76-mm. cannon. Dual controls permit a change in drivers on an instant's notice, with no switch in positions required.

[redacted] cited one graphic example of the M-18's speed and mobility. One of the vehicles was dispatched to the water's edge on a peninsula across from Brest to blast a German pillbox about 6,000 yards across the water. The vehicle sped to the site, fired for thirty minutes from one changing position after another, then streaked away to protective cover before the enemy could direct fire upon it, repeating the rapid action at a new point shortly afterward.

The M-18's speed has tended to minimize mine trouble. Once the break-through is made, it moves so rapidly that the enemy finds it almost impossible to strew new mine fields in its path.

"I wuz thinkin'...."

by Izzy Ort

WHUT a job our boys is doin' out dere in da Pacific! From da privates to da generals, from gob to admiral, dey are turnin' in a performance dat history will never fergit! In those black days a few years back, when the Japrats sneaked up on him and caught him by surprise, General MacArthur promised the people of the Philippine Islands he would be back. And like all Americans the General kept his promise last week, and returned to free the Philippines. With him NOW in the Philippines iz every living survivor who left the islands when the Japs won that first round! Yessir, fokes, the war news is shure wunderful, because our boys, from the top down, are in there pitchin' and doin' their part. They're not takin' time out to cheer, and that should be a lesson to us here on the home front . . . DON'T RELAX, BUT KEEP PLUGGIN' . . . turn out them war goods fer all yer worth, and put yer earnin's into WAR BONDS. The Yellowbacks and the Nazis are both dizzy on the ropes, so let's don't step back to admire our work until the K. O. punch has been delivered. Let's pitch into dat war job harder than ever and dig into our pockets deeper than ever, so we KIN BUY MORE BONDS THAN EVER! . . . Fer needed relaxation and recreation, visit me Grille and El Tropico Room on Essex Street. Advt.

WILBUR — "SLEEP, MY PRETTY ONE," starring Pauline Lord in the new play by Charlcie and Oliver H. P. Garrett, will be presented by Richard Krakeur for a week's engagement. Roy Hargrave directing; settings by Raymond Sovey.

Continuing

COLONIAL — "HARRIET," the Helen Hayes-starring Broadway success of two seasons, tonight begins its final week of a three-week run. The Harriet of the title is, of course, the author of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," Harriet Beecher Stowe, of the incredible Beechers. A Gilbert Miller production.

COPLEY — "HARVEY," Brock Pemberton's production of the new Mary Chase play starring Frank Fay, looks to be the "sleeper" of the season. Featured with the fabulous Fay are Josephine Hull, Fred Irving Lewis, Dora Clement, Tom Seidel and others. Originally titled "The Pooka," pooka being from the Old Celtic and meaning a fairy spirit in animal form grown large with solitude and loneliness. Second and final week.

PLYMOUTH — "NO WAY OUT," Owen Davis' new drama in which Robert Keith, Irene Hervey, Viola Frayne, Viola Roache and Jean Casto have leading parts, is basically a criticism of the unlawful power medical "ethics" gives to physicians. Second and final week.

SHUBERT — "REBECCA," Daphne DuMaurier's dramatization of her own best-selling novel, has opened the Theater Guild's subscription series of the season here. Bramwell Fletcher, Florence Reed and Diana Barrymore head cast. Final week for the Victor Payne-Jennings production.

October 29

OPERA HOUSE — "AIDA" with Mobley Lushbaugh, Margery Mayer, Frieda Fletcher, Sydney Rayner, Morton Thomas, Harold Kravitt and others, will open a 10 performance, eight-day engagement here of Fortune Gallo's San Carlo Opera Company.

October 30

COLONIAL — "TOMORROW THE WORLD," the comedy-drama hit produced by Theron Bamberger and awarded the best play of '44 prize by the Theater Club of New York, in a return engagement brings a cast headed by Stephen Chase and Barbara Robbins. The James Gow-Arnaud d'Usseau play premiered here a year ago last March.

WILBUR — "IN BED WE CRY," Ilka Chase's dramatization of her own novel. Brings Miss Chase and Paul McGrath here in the leading roles.

November 6

PLYMOUTH — "THE LATE GEORGE APLEY," dramatization of John P. Marquand's Boston story by the author and George S. Kaufman, stars Leo G. Carroll. The new completed cast includes Jane Beecher, Percy Waram, Margaret Dale, Davie McKay, Priestley Morrison and others.

November 9

SHUBERT — "LAFFING ROOM ONLY," latest Olsen and Johnson musical extravaganza, co-stars the comedian-producers and features Frank Libuse, Betty Garrett, Willie West and McGinty, Mata and Hari, and others.

November 13

COLONIAL — "SING OUT, SWEET LAND," the Theater Guild's new musical starring Alfred "Oklahoma!" Drake.

WILBUR — "A BELL FOR ADANO," Paul Osborn's dramatization of John Hersey's best-seller starring Fredric March and featuring Margo. Produced by Leland Hayward; directed by H. C. Potter.

Calloway Musical Film for Boys Abroad

At the request of the War Department, Cab Calloway will make a sing-a-long short for world-wide distribution by the Signal Corps among the troops. In addition to playing three popular numbers, Callaway will make a brief talk to the GI's, expressing the appreciation of the folks back home.

2 Shows in Week Is Sign of Ring Boom

By JACK CONWAY

THERE ARE some well intentioned individuals in our community who are wasting much valuable time deploring the fact there are two professional boxing shows scheduled for Boston this week.

Lulu Costantino of New York will battle Larry Bolvin of Providence, a former All-America champion, at an Eddie Mack-Jack O'Brien production at Mechanics Building on Thursday night, while "Rip" Valenti's Goodwin A. C. will host Jimmy McDaniels of Cambridge as an opponent against Billy Conn-Ione of the North End at the Garden on the following evening.

Larry Bolvin

I cannot see any legitimate reason why anyone should be over-concerned because two professional boxing cards wish to stage conflicting bouts on the same week. There was a period in Boston boxing, a few years ago when the only action was offered by George Frederick's amateur shows.

The fact two clubs are able to get suitable attractions on the same week would indicate there must be an abundance of boxers around. The easing up of the draft, the making of the work or fight order and the discharging of many boxers from the armed services helped to furnish ring talent.

Bobby Ruffin of New York, who made such a hit as he knocked out Vince Dell'Orto of Philadelphia, saw a year's service in the Army before he received a medical discharge. You may be wondering, and I confess I frequently do, why sturdy boxers and football players are given Army and Navy discharges, but they must have physical defects that make them unfit for war service.

These former soldier and sailor athletes have found it embarrassing when speaking before groups of service men. A former member of the Boston Yanks, who had a medical discharge, gave a talk on sports to soldiers at a Boston harbor fort. He then opened a question period.

"How did you get your discharge from the Army?" 1000 soldiers asked as if one.

The football player was very embarrassed. The officer in charge of the entertainment then explained to him that the soldiers did not have any ill feelings toward him, but only wished to know the short cuts, if any, to a service discharge, so that they could use them when the war ends.

Good Bouts Test

IF THE Callahan A. C. and Goodwin A. C. offer good boxing attractions they will do all right. Otherwise they will end up in much the same position that Twilight Tear did on Saturday. In the event you are not a horse player, I should add that Twilight Tear finished out of the money. Unlike fight promoters, it was the first time Twilight Tear was an also ran.

When there is more than one boxing show a week, some of the cash customers must decide on which one they will attend.

It is then a question of picking the most attractive match. Fortunately for the promoters boxing fans have varied ideas as to what is the best looking card.

I find myself in the position where I would like to see Lulu Costantino in action against Larry Bolvin. Lulu is managed by Jimmy Johnston and the latter has told me his protege has so much ability I would like to see him myself and pick some flaws in his boxing and hitting.

I am also anxious to get a look at Jimmy McDaniels who tangles with Billy Tordiglione. McDaniels easily defeated Ralph Zanelli in the New York Garden and has also scored some other first-class wins.

Boxing Every Night

DURING THE greatest boxing boom in Boston back in the Golden Nineties there used to be a ring show every night. The Carlyle A. C. operated on Monday night, the Armory A. A., later known as the Atlas A. A. on Tuesday night, the Suffolk A. A. on Wednesday night, the Fenway A. A. on Thursday night, the Commercial Club on Friday night and the Commonwealth Club on Saturday night.

The six clubs made money and gave the fans action. You will find this condition existing once more in the postwar period when there will be an abundance of boxing talent.

I do not see shows in a row. The hardy horse racing folks have been going to various New England tracks since early spring, while the dog fans thrived on 200 nights of racing. I maintain that fight fans are not sissies and that they are equally as tough as horse and dog devotees.

Jack Ryder Has Good Runners

Jack Ryder, Boston College track coach, has several promising runners in training for the coming season.

Art Collins, state dash champion at Public Latin last season, has entered the college and Ryder has him going through short workouts daily at Alumni Field. In addition to the newcomers, Ryder still has Herb McKenley, who was practically a one-man track team last fall, back for new victories.

Brown Coach Protests H. C.'s Use of Sheridan

By HUCK FINNEGAN

Brown Coach Rip Engle skipped the Boston football writers' luncheon today to attend a similar affair in New York. Too bad for our side. His talk promises to headline Metropolitan sports pages. The Brown skipper, hot under the collar because time expired in Saturday's 24-24 epic against Holy Cross with his Brown team on the 2, has explosive topics, to wit:

1—Naval V-12 eligibility rules, and

2—What constitutes "time out" among officials.

Holy Cross on Saturday introduced triple-threat Walter Sheridan, a freshman V-12. Sheridan played a headline role in the game.

"How come Holy Cross can use Sheridan on Oct. 21 when none of the other V-12 colleges can use their freshmen until Nov. 1?" Engle asks in bellicose tones. "I have several freshmen V-12's at Brown I would like to be using, but naval regulations state definitely we can't use them until Nov. 1. Why one rule for HC and another rule for the other V-12 colleges? If Sheridan were at Brown, he wouldn't be able to practice with the squad until Nov. 1 and here he is playing!

"We play Dartmouth next Saturday," he went on. "Earl Brown is losing 28 of his first 40 men. Okay, they're still eligible. But he's got some good men coming in. Suppose he decides to play pre-November eligibles and November eligibles against us. We'll be ruined. Yet he can say HC established 'precedent.' What is the story anyway?"

HC's story is that the Navy alone passes on the eligibility of its athletes. And since Capt. Guy E. Davis, commanding officer of the Navy V-12 college program unit at HC, declared Sheridan eligible, Sheridan therefore IS eligible.

"We wired Asa Bushnell about Sheridan's case," said HC officials, "and Bushnell (czar of intercollegiate sports) said Capt. Davis was the one to pass judgment inasmuch as V-12 students were out of his (Bushnell's) hands."

There may be repercussions, however. V-12 athletic policies all over the East may be affected.

WAS RUNNER IN OR OUT?

Now for "time out" tangle. With the score 24-all in the waning minutes of the game, Sheridan tried to pass deep in his own territory. He was hit from behind and the ball recovered by Capt. Lowe of Brown on the HC 22. Tiedemann picked up four at center and Williams immediately scooted to the 10 for a first down.

The clock said two minutes to go. O'Brien banged center for two yards, and Tiedemann sped around HC's right end to the two. It seemed from the faraway press box that he was tossed out of bounds. But the clock ran on. O'Brien carried to the goal lip. Ith down about a foot to go. "Game is over," said the officials.

"We wuz robbed!" shrieked Brown coach, team and followers.

Brown claimed (1) that the clock should have been stopped when Tiedemann was pushed "out of bounds," and (2) that the officials let HC players pile up, take their time getting up, thus wasting precious seconds.

Rebuttal: (1) Why did Brown persist in using a man in motion with only seconds remaining to play? and (2) why didn't Brown make a substitution, thus forcing stoppage of the clock?

As to the "out of bounds" claim, Linesman Bill Ohrenberger says vehemently: "Tiedemann was a yard and a half from the sideline when he was downed. Thus the ball became dead on the field of play. Fact that he slid outside later didn't warrant stopping the clock."

Said Tiedemann: "I'm sure the ball was outside. I'm not sure about myself."

The echoes will ring long and loud.

Green Bay and N. Y. Lead Pros

NEW YORK, Oct. 23 (AP) — The Green Bay Packers and the New York Giants took a firmer grip on first place in the western and eastern divisions of the National Pro Football League as 142,987 fans watched the five league games at New York, Green Bay, Philadelphia, Washington and Chicago.

In a battle of undefeated, untied teams the Packers overpowered the surprising Cleveland Rams, 30 to 21, before 18,780 spectators at Green Bay. The Rams took an early lead on Tom Colella's 75-yard run, but then dropped behind as the Packers went ahead by 30-14. It was the Packers' fifth straight win.

With Bill Paschal scoring all three touchdowns the Giants opened their home season at the Polo Grounds by drubbing the Card-Pitt aggregation, 23-0, before 40,734.

SEVEN PASSES BY BAUGH

Washington kept pace with Philadelphia by nosing out the Brooklyn Tigers, 17 to 14, before a capacity 35,000 at Griffith Stadium in Washington.

Joe Aguirre booted a 38-yard field goal in the last period to win the game after the Tigers had rallied to tie the score at 14-14. Sammy Baugh, star Redskin passer, played his first league game of the year, completing seven of 15 aerials for 44 yards.

Detroit and the Chicago Bears battled to a 21-21 deadlock before 23,835 at Chicago. Frankie Sinkwich, who was hospitalized with an attack of appendicitis last week, sparked the Detroit attack with his running and passing.

Kopf to Drive Yanks for Tigers

Buoyant last week after their slashing 21-14 game with the Redskins, the Boston Yanks were back on their heels today, victims of a 38-0 shellacking from the Philadelphia Eagles. A crowd of 24,638 sat in at Shibe Park and watched the Eagles remain undefeated in league competition. It was their second league win over the Boston entry, having opened the season with a 28-7 decision over Herb Kopf's team.

The game was only two minutes old when Ernie Steele was off on a 56-yard T. D. jaunt. Boston came right back, marched down the field to the Eagles' 11 with the help of a long Cafego-Ranspot pass, but could get no farther. A field goal by Zimmerman, a 35-yard T. D. run by Van Buren and an 18-yard T. D. run by Bleeker salted the game away for the Eagles by half-time.

Boston had two fine chances to score in the third period. Cafego recovered Zimmerman's fumble on the Eagles' 14, but Kish intercepted a Cafego pass. Later Boston marched down the field from its own 25 to the Eagles' 1. But Davis and Williams failed to push the ball over, a Williams fumble sent the Yanks back to the 13, and the Eagles took over on the next play.

Kopf did not come to Boston with the team, which detrained at Back Bay station this morning. He stopped in New York to attend the football writers' luncheon. But he'll be here tomorrow to start practice for the game with Brooklyn Tigers next Sunday, and there'll be something doing from 1 to 11 all week long. Kopf is not a "good loser."

Service Man Wins National Crown

Opening up a tremendous lead, Charlie Robbins, Chelsea Naval Hospital, spreadeagled the field to win the National Championship 30,000 kilometer race at Franklin Park, yesterday afternoon.

Robbins, whose winning time was 1:53:42, finished almost three and a half minutes ahead of his perennial rival, Johnny Kelley of West Acton.

Other finishers in order were: Tony Madeiros, North Medford; Henry LeSage, North Medford; George Dahiels, Norfolk Y. M. H. A.; Fred Brown, North Medford; Al Lundberg, Norfolk; Newell Austin, North Medford; Bob Gilchrist, Shirley; and O. Bob Spooner, New Bedford.

Service Men Play Golf Next Sunday

Jack Clayburne, Roxbury Colored grappler, will be relying on his speed to stop Yvon Robert, recognized by the Canadian Wrestling Commission as world's champion, when the pair collide in the feature of the weekly mat show at the Arena, Wednesday night.

Robert has invaded New England, disputing Sandor Szabo's claims to the duration crown and hoping to straighten out the championship picture once and for all.

Three matches on the supporting card will complete the program.

Competition Looms On Pro Grid Front

By WHITNEY MARTIN

NEW YORK (AP)—It takes news to make a daily and it takes a Daley to make news. Meaning Ensign Bill Daley, former backfield ace at Minnesota and Michigan, who has caused quite a commotion in pro football ranks by signing a contract.

Now if Ensign Daley had signed with a member of the National League it would have caused little comment, as that is what he was expected to do, particularly by the National League. But Ensign Daley signed with the New Yankees of the new All-America League. The National League, and particularly the Card-Pitts who named him their No. 1 man in the draft, are perturbed.

Malden Plays Two Games in Six Days

Malden High School's drive to Class A honors and the state championship was temporarily halted over the weekend by the heavy storm but the Golden Tornado was expected to pick up its pace today at the expense of Newton and then continue on its way Saturday against Arlington.

Newton promised to give Malden some minor difficulties this afternoon but Arlington's inexperienced, green outfit will probably be a pop-over for the undefeated leaders.

Coach Henry Toczylowski has had his troubles this season with his Arlington squad. There was plenty of enthusiasm in the group, talent that will develop but for the most part, the boys were sadly inexperienced. They dropped their opener to Newton, recovered the following week to slip through to a single point victory over Malden Catholic but then faltered again against Waltham and Leominster. Arlington has fight, but not the experienced hands to give Malden a setback.

Malden, on the other hand, has been winning almost as it pleases, and with one exception, all victories over major opponents. The Coach Melanson eleven still has Brockton, a tough Somerville, a coming Everett and Medford ahead before claiming class honors.

HARD WEEK FOR MELROSE

While Malden had a comparatively soft week, Melrose moved into the toughest of its entire schedule with Saugus slated for a play-off this afternoon and Somerville coming up Saturday. Saugus was gunning for a continuation of its undefeated record while Somerville still had a possibility of moving into the State title—if Coach Tom Lynch's boys could pass through the remainder of its schedule without dropping a decision.

Melrose High's Red Raiders had a stiff problem to encounter today. They were coming off their first defeat in 23 starts under Coach Dave Gavin against a Sachem team that was loaded. Beverly, Chelsea and Amesbury have been quick victims of Coach Dave Lucey's power-laden eleven.

26 Cards Mailed Checks for $4626

CHICAGO, Oct. 23 (AP)—Checks for $309,590.91 were in the mail today as the players' split of World Series receipts, the office of Baseball Commr. K. M. Landis announced. Of the total, $92,877.27 went to the champion St. Louis Cardinals, and $86,685.16 to the St. Louis Browns.

Twenty-six Cardinals got $4626 each—with 18 getting an extra cent—and nine members of the club got fractional shares ranging from $500 to $2313. Shares of $2743.78—with 16 getting an extra penny—went to 29 Brownies. Nine others received part shares of $500 to $1371.89.

Eagles Meet Tough Syracuse U. Here

The informal Boston College Eagles will meet their most evenly matched adversary, the University of Syracuse, in their next game at Fenway Park next Saturday afternoon.

The Eagles now have a 2 and 1 record while Syracuse has one victory with two defeats and a tie. After dropping games with Cornell and Columbia, the Orangemen defeated Lafeyette and played a 7-7 stalemate with Temple last week.

Lady Luck has again cast her disdainful eye on the B. C. squad, this time claiming John Callahan, first string end, who suffered a dislocated shoulder in last week's game against NYU. Callahan was one of the iron men on the BC line as he played practically the entire first two games. After his injury, Paul Murphy took over the end post and did a creditable job, his savage tackling drawing warm praise. Callahan is the fourth B. C. starter to be sidelined since the season started.

STILL WANT BC-HC GAME

Playing his first college game, Elias Wier, 5 foot 6 inch halfback, pulled off several fancy broken-field runs. He had been sidelined earlier in the season with a sprained ankle. Wier was a standout at Lawrence Central Catholic High last season. Besides playing football, he was a four-letter man. He captained the track team as well as winning a letter in baseball and basketball.

While the squad is preparing for the coming tilt against Syracuse, a demand for a B. C.-Holy Cross game is becoming more and more in evidence.

Although the Crusaders would rule the favorites, B. C. has enough material to make the game a hard-tought one. If they down Syracuse next week the demand for the game will be increased. Other teams including Tufts and the Melville, R. I., PT base eleven have asked for a game with B. C. but no arrangements have been made with any team as yet.

Pres. Bill Veeck May Draw Discharge

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 23 (INS)—PFC Bill Veeck of the Marine Corps, and president of the Milwaukee Baseball Club, has been sent to a Pacific coast camp from the South Pacific, according to Freddie Mendelson, ticket manager of the Brewers.

According to Mendelson, there is a possibility that once Veeck's condition has been cleared up sufficiently, he will be given a medical discharge. Veeck became a voluntary inductee last December and was last reported at Guadalcanal.

BARGELLO FILLY WINS

AGUA CALIENTE, Mex., Oct. 23 (AP)—Overlooked by the bettors in the flossy company she was in despite her record of having won two of her only three starts, Carl Whittenton's Bargello filly, Kid Finish, romped to a six-length victory in the $2000 added Caliente juvenile stakes yesterday.

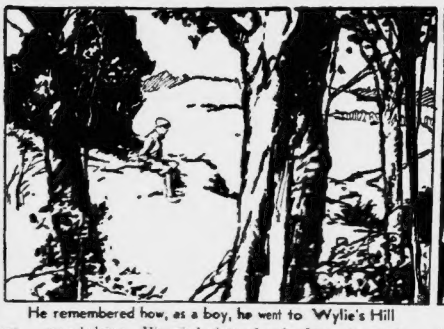
Under guidance of Apprentice Ron DeBelloy Kid Finish sped the six furlongs in 1:11 flat, cantering, to pay $26.40, $9.40 and $5.20.

The Lost Weekend

Based on the powerful, best-selling, novel of five unforgettable days in a man's life

BY CHARLES JACKSON
ILLUSTRATIONS BY F. R. GRUGER

Don wanted to cry out, "Come back!"



He remembered how, as a boy, he went to Wylie's Hill

He'd said, "Can I hang one of these here?"

IF Don coughed now, if his heart thumped any louder—Helen's voice came again outside the door . . . "Don, won't you let me in?" The doorknob rattled.

There was an uncertain note in her voice now, he was winning, he was fooling her. The footsteps moved off. He was almost faint with relief. But as he heard her going away—taking with her the help he needed so badly—he wanted to cry out, "Come back! Come back!" The Helen who loved him and whom he loved—he wanted her now but he would never call out.

He understood it now. It was Helen who had been ringing him all morning from the office. She had come over on her lunch hour—thinking the sound of her voice—how little people knew or understood what he was suffering.

The telephone rang. She was back. The bell would ring him into the next world, that's how she was helping. His mind plunged again into the past's cooling stream.

He was coming down Wylie's Hill, coming home after a hike into the country to his favorite haunt. It was Thanksgiving. From Wylie's Hill he could see the town spread out below. The familiar loved town where everybody in the world knew him. As he came down the hill and crossed the tracks he began to smell the dinners cooking.

The defaulters, the renegers, the backward-lookers, the adolescents . . . He was a life-term member of that motley crew. Odd that he of all people should ever have turned into a drinker, he who had been actually impatient with the chapter on the evils of alcohol and what it did to the brain cells in the sixth grade hygiene book impatient because all this stuff would never apply to him.

Nice people didn't go into saloons nobody he knew ever did, except he himself once at the age of 14 as a gesture of patriotism. As a Scout he had gone into McGill's saloon with the poster for the Liberty Loan drive.

He walked straight into the dark, foul-smelling place and said, "Mr. McGill, can I hang one of these up in your window?" He felt wonderful doing it, all the more so because the two men at the bar looked at him sheepishly; and when he pushed the two half-doors aside and came out, he knew proudly that he would never again in all his life be inside a saloon.

Was that funny, could you laugh at it now? Let others, if they could, but it was heartbreaking only, he sat up suddenly. The telephone had stopped. Was he on her way over here again . . .

Rose Bowl Claim At Stake Tonight

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 23 (AP)—The University of Washington gets the first of two chances in six days to qualify as a Rose Bowl nominee as it ties into the southern California Trojans tonight in Memorial Coliseum.

A crowd of 70,000 is expected to see the unbeaten Huskies try to avenge the beating the Trojans gave them in the Rose Bowl last New Year's. If Washington can hurdle Jeff Cravath's team tonight and then hang one on California next Saturday in Berkeley it will close its Pacific Coast conference schedule, such as it is, without a defeat.

Washington is the only member in the northern division playing football, and the only three southern members are California, UCLA and Southern California.

Holy Cross Fills Sole Open Date

WORCESTER, Mass., Oct. 23 (AP)—Holy Cross today filled the open date on its football schedule when athletic director Jack Barry announced the signing of the Newport Torpedo Boat Squadron for a Sunday game at Fitton Field on Nov. 19.

This game is expected to close the Holy Cross football season.
